If you have signed up within the last few months or if you are wanting to learn more about Young Living, now is the time to take advantage of this free introductory event being held in your area! This Introductory Event is a great opportunity to connect with others and to introduce new members to Young Living. As new members, you will learn about things ranging from YL company history to YL farms to the Seed to Seal process. The education you will receive will provide you with the knowledge needed to understand what a tremendous opportunity YL can provide!

This meeting will be sponsored by Young Living and hosted by our Regional Sales Manager who is passionate about Young Living and excited to see all the new faces. We will offer special promotions for potential new members and those in attendance.

Take advantage of this opportunity to learn about Young Living!
