

Introducing the Northern Lights Young Living Farm in British Columbia, Canada

In order to keep up with growing demand for our superior products, Young Living has recently purchased the Young Living Northern Lights farm. Here's what this beautiful new farm has to offer:

- Ongoing Supply—The Young Living Northern Lights farm will provide an ongoing supply of Black Spruce, Ledum, and Yarrow—essential oils crucial in some of our most popular blends. Production of additional oils will be determined in the future.
- Commitment to Sustainability—We are committed to preserving the farm's natural state as much as possible, using responsible farming methods that include sustainable harvesting and meticulous reforestation.
- Optimal Distillation—Because the Young Living Northern Lights farm, like our Highland Flats farm, will have a cutting-edge distillery on site, we will be able to distill botanicals at the most optimal time, ensuring the production of essential oils with the highest levels of active constituents.

Growing, harvesting, and distilling our own botanicals is a painstaking approach unique to Young Living. We are proud to add the new Young Living Northern Lights Farm to our family of farms throughout the world to help ensure our continued supply of superior, pure essential oils extracted from superior botanicals!
